Class Do's & Don'ts

Attendance and Cancellation Policy: I want all of my classes to be a relaxing, fun and creative experience for you. In order to do that.....Please, please, please RSVP for each class at least 3 days prior so that I can get supplies kitted. Supplies are expensive so if you sign up for a class and are unable to attend - I totally understand, but please let me know as soon as possible. Sending someone in your place would be great!! Or....you may pick up your class kit at a later date. In other words....help me avoid the frustration of paperwork, piles of "stuff", lost time and grumpy husbands as well as keeping this affordable and fun for ALL of US! ☺ To RSVP - just shoot me an email (grasshopperlanedesigns@embarqmail.com), leave a message on my cell (573/353-8087), add a comment on the blog or FaceBook - I'll find you.

Class Fees: All money is due the day of the class. This is New - in the past, I've asked for you to pre-pay for classes. But, as most of you know, I hate paperwork and trying to remember who paid, who didn't, and who I owe credits too and that takes the fun out of it. There is a basket on the pie safe - just toss it in and we're ready to Rock 'n' Roll.

Traveling Classes & Kits: Can't attend but want to take the class. I'm offering two different options. (1) Host the Class - get 3 or more of your friends together and pick a date. If you're in town - class fee is the same. If you are out of town, add two dollars to your class fee for travel expenses. You provide the table. (2) Class Kit - Pay the regular class fee. You will receive everything we used in class with exception of adhesive, ink and in some cases, stamped images.

As always, if you have questions - let me know. Looking forward to sharing my creative journey with you -
